Regional Freight Plan Underway – Your Input Needed

The Memphis Urban Area Metropolitan Planning Organization (MPO) is releasing an online survey for you to provide input on how freight traffic impacts your day to day travel and activities.

The 12 question survey will assist planners to learn about your day to day interactions with freight traffic and potential issues that can be addressed in the Regional Freight Plan.

“As America's Distribution Center, the Greater Memphis Region plays a critical role in the Nation's global supply chain. The Regional Freight Plan will provide us with a framework that works for the public and for our current and future major employers,” said Mayor Mark H. Luttrell, Jr., Chairman Memphis MPO.

This planning process seeks to learn how we can move freight in the area more effectively and efficiently. “This plan will look at both, urban and rural areas to identify ways to move freight through the transportation network. That’s the reason your input is important because freight impacts your everyday life in terms of travel and daily needs” said Pragati Srivastava, AICP, Administrator, Memphis MPO.

The online survey is available at <https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/RLJVB6Z>
